„Not as elegiac as Tori Amos, yet not quite as bare as Suzanne Vega“, was the verdict by the Austrian music magazine skug concerning Magdalena Piatti’s 2011 debut album “Broken Wings”. The charming singer now follows up with her second album, „Soulmates“. „Each song on the album was written for a soulmate,“ says Piatti. Soulmates are people that the singer-songwriter feels a strong connection to- like an old acquaintance, long lost and found again. Some of these encounters took place during her travels, for instance in South America. Miss Piatti has already had the pleasure of performing there- no surprise then, that her new album also includes a song in Spanish: “Nieve”. „A part of me has a strong affinity to South America; that’s why I thought the song simply must go on the new CD.“

Unlike her debut, which was characterized by dreamy string arrangements, newcomers Christian Paul (Git.) and Rafael Kraus (drums) now ensure a clear pop sound. Concerning the band’s restructuring, the sensitive singer felt compelled to try something different. „During the recording of ‘Soulmates’, the band consisted of guitar, percussion, bass and piano. Compared to the first album, the songs have a far stronger pop sensibility.“ Magdalena Piattis musical journey, which began in 2003 with her first performances, continues. Bon voyage!
